

THE WORLD OF GREECE

ODYSSEY

Greekville: London

www.odyssey.gr

May/June 2007

The Art of Living

The annual list of Greece's best hotels

Course for Piraeus

Greek shipping sets sail for home

The Minoan riddle

300 fact or fiction?

Also: The new generation of Greek American filmmakers • Baseball in Greece
George Michael on tour • Delphi's lady oracle • Alexander's enduring myth

US$8 / Can$9

Anemomilos Apartments

Hora, 840 11 Folegandros, tel.: +30 22860 41309, fax +30 22860 41407, email: info@AnemomilosApartments.com • www.AnemomilosApartments.com • B Category

Anemomilos Apartments—16 fully-equipped studios and one suite—takes its name from the island's sole windmill that once graced this very location of Hora, the picturesque main village.

Perched on the edge of a sheer cliff over the sea, Anemomilos offers breathtaking views of the Aegean. Accommodations are simply decorated, but infused with the warmth of personalized hospitality that starts with the delicious home-made breakfast cakes and ends with nightcaps on the bamboo-shaded pool terrace.

Orloff Resort

Old Harbor, 180 50 Spetses, tel.: +30 22980 75444-45, fax +30 22980 74470, email: info@orloffresort.com • www.orloffresort.com • Boutique

Secluded within a private compound in the aristocratic Old Harbor, the Orloff Resort was developed around a renovated 19th-century stone-built mansion and now comprises fifteen double rooms, four triple apartments and three suites that can accommodate four to six persons each, and a stand-alone house that sleeps 10—all arrayed around a central courtyard and swimming pool. All guestrooms have balconies or terraces with views over the sea or the grounds, while some also have equipped kitchenettes, fireplace, and hydro massage. Details like Korres natural cosmetics, in-room internet connections, and handmade furniture create an aura of easy elegance that helps create the wonderful harmony between its traditional architecture and modern vibe.

Resort facilities include a bar-restaurant by the pool and services ranging from child-minding to aromatherapy and massage.

